

15,000 TAMMANY WORKERS AID FINAL RED CROSS DRIVE

Canvassers Must Get 150,000 More Members to Reach New York's Goal.

Tammany Hall's promised aid to the Red Cross in securing the 500,000 new members in New York City during the Christmas drive materialized to-day when a request came from D. H. Connolly of Tammany Hall to the Red Cross campaign headquarters at No. 244 Madison Avenue for 15,000 enrollment blanks. The blanks were rushed to Tammany Hall where 5,000 were distributed to district leaders and 10,000 to other Tammany workers to be used in securing Red Cross memberships.

Why New York City failed to come up to its estimated quota for the 15,000,000 membership drive throughout the Nation remains a mystery at Red Cross campaign headquarters. When work was suspended on Christmas Eve the city was 150,000 behind the required 500,000. By the figures coming in to-day it is estimated that something like 100,000 memberships must be signed up to-morrow, Friday and Saturday if New York City is to make good.

To-day's campaign was marked by more personal canvassing and less soliciting of memberships from booths. The booths which numbered 1,400 at the beginning of the campaign, were reduced to 1,000 to-day. Those eliminated were in the smaller office buildings and in subway and elevated stations. The remaining booths are in the busiest places, such as the big railway terminals and hotels.

Some of the booth workers have displayed much skill in winning the attention of the public. Mrs. Zeisloft, who has a booth at the Pennsylvania Station, has a Christmas tree decorated with membership blanks and pins, and this idea has resulted in boosting her roll of paid-up memberships.

Most of the women whose booths have been closed are still working for the cause. They have formed about 200 independent teams and are covering territory not already thoroughly harvested by the 1,200 original teams. There are about 15,000 workers engaged to-day, but there is still room for more volunteer workers. At campaign headquarters it is hoped more will report for the remainder of the drive, which ends at midnight Saturday.

To-day more than $200,000 in cash for memberships had been received at headquarters since the beginning of the campaign. This is regarded as a record for actual cash receipts in such a short space of time.
